foreword

Not unlike a Century of Progress are the four high school years. It is during these years that foundations for future work are laid. In this century in miniature, development takes place in which the man and woman of tomorrow may be foreshadowed.

It is the aim of this Reflector to picture the progress of the class of 1933.

mr. mc adam

dedication

To Mr. Joseph McAdam, because of his guidance as our class advisor during these four years of progress, and because of his ability to be our friend, we, The Senior Class, dedicate the Reflector of 1933.

MR. W. W. BORDEN

administration

You are to be congratulated upon the completion of your high school career, and your parents are to be commended for making it possible for you to reach this goal. We regret that some of those who started out with you on this educational journey have been lost on the way.

You are graduating at a time when our country is in the throes of a great economic adjustment. Because of this situation, society will demand more and better trained individuals; therefore, I urge you to continue your education in college. If it is not possible to go on to college, then you should make every use of your high school training that you can.

We trust that the agencies that have contributed to your education, especially the school, have developed in you the proper attitude toward life—such as loyalty, honesty, courage, belief in self, and the like. These are more important than history, algebra and Latin.

Let me urge you to put into your life enthusiastic effort, a willingness to cooperate, a desire for high ideals, and you will get there from a pleasurable and profitable experience.

W. W. BORDEN, Superintendent

The Whiting schools are fortunate in having a very efficient Board of Education. Dr. Bransky was chosen president for this year, Mr. Salapski, secretary, and Mr. Gambril, treasurer. The untiring efforts of these men are continually being expended for the best interests of the school.

Board of Education: O. E. Bransky, J. Ross Gambril, John Salapski

administration

The Reflector staff has selected the Century of Progress idea as the theme of this book. The great exposition which is being held at our very doorway is making us more conscious of the remarkable development that has taken place during the past century, in every field of civilization.

Education has contributed much and has been a controlling factor in the great advance of science and progress. This graduating class has benefited by the experience and knowledge of the previous generation. You stand as an example of the finished product of the modern high school. You have enjoyed privileges and advantages far beyond the fondest hopes of your parents and forefathers. Through modern curriculum offerings and extra-curricular opportunities, your school life has been changed from a period of scholastic drudgery to a happy yet highly profitable experience which the average student regrets to leave behind.

The Class of 1933 has been a most aggressive and active group. You have been leaders in the activities of the school. It is with much regret that we bid you adieu as you graduate from Whiting High School.

L. C. GRUBB, Principal

The Student Council is made up of the class presidents, one student elected from each class, and a representative from each home room. The purpose of this council is to assist the principal in getting student opinions on problems of the school.

Seated: J. Campbell, I. Toth, M. Gambril, C. Feeney, K. Malick, M. Stanton, I. Senchak, C. Franken.

Standing: L. Wasiewski, C. Mullaney, V. Harmon, L. Eidson, A. Wajvoda, E. Kacer, V. Hansen.

housed in the building. However, in 1927 a new Primary building was completed and the lower grades were moved to the McGregor building.

In the fall of 1931 the entire school system was reorganized, a new system being put into use in which the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades were assigned to this building. This improvement made our system of the type generally approved throughout the country.

The Junior High is made up of fourteen regular home room groups. Thirteen groups are given advanced vocational instruction. The students are encouraged to take part in extra curricular activities for which purpose clubs have been instituted. Those already well organized are: Science Club, Nature Club, Pep Club, MacDowell Club, Travel Club, Journalism Club, Readers Club, Health Club.

Mr. E. L. Riordan, principal of the Junior High, was assigned this position in 1924, being transferred from the science department. In the nine years he has been head of this department, he has done much toward making the Junior High a perfectly organized sector of the school system.

Junior High School

health and attendance

Miss Grace Lee has had charge of the City School Health Department for four years. Miss Lee, after graduating from St. Luke's Hospital, Chicago, was active for nineteen months in the Red Cross during the World War. Upon returning from France she took a post-graduate course in the Michael Reese Hospital. Following this she organized and was supervisor of the Pediatric Department of St. Luke's Hospital for four years.

The health department is an important factor in our school. Grade school children are examined regularly, preventing many cases of serious diseases. Our school is also fortunate in receiving aid from various city organizations. Funds have been provided to take care of emergency tonsil and adenoid operations, and to furnish glasses to those who could not afford them. We extend thanks to these groups for their help to both the school and the children.

Mrs. Hoskins has been our attendance officer for twelve years. Her duties extend beyond those ordinarily associated with her work. The dominant type of her service is that of "relief", on which she works with the trustee of the township. In addition to keeping the school records free from excessive absences, Mrs. Hoskins takes care of children in need of books, clothing, and parental care. She has been an active member of the Whiting Relief and Aid Board for ten years.

Our school has a well qualified and efficient office staff. Miss Lucille Graf, a graduate of '24, serves as secretary to Mr. Borden. Mrs. Campbell has been secretary to the school board for nine years. Miss Helen Keckich, of the class of '29 acts as secretary to Mr. Grubb.

periods of progression

The purpose of this history is to trace the story of a people, not through a century of progress, but four years of progress—the class of "33" through its high school years.

This class, composed of approximately two hundred students, entered high school life in September, 1929, and proceeded through the year with the following leaders at its head: president—Catherine Ribovich, vice-president—Paul Haluska, secretary—Justine Dado, treasurer—Mike Martich. The only outstanding social activity of this first year was the Freshman Reception, with which they were honored by the Seniors.

With a number of new students from the Franklin School added to the ranks, the second year was begun under the capable officers elected by the class: Bruce Avery—president, Virginia Gilberg—vice-president, Carl Buehler—secretary, Ruth Zweig—treasurer. In March the class sponsored the annual Sophomore Party in the form of a St. Patrick's dance. This affair earned the class the reputation for giving successful parties, which it has retained. During that year, Caroline Zimmerly creditably represented the class in the State Latin Contest in which she received second place.

In the third year the members of the class took a prominent part in outside activities as well as in school affairs. Kenneth Malick won first place in the saxophone division of the National Instrumental Solo Contest, Gene Melvin took first award in the State Piano Contest, and Martha Broderson was awarded first prize in the National Red Cross Essay Contest. With Lucille Bailey as president, Mike Fowdy as vice-president, Lois Brown as secretary, and Paul Martich as treasurer, the class was ably guided. The Junior Play and the Prom were the big events of the year. The play, "Those Lovely Ladies", with Evelyn Shinn and Wilbur Boland carrying the leading roles, afforded a hilarious evening's entertainment to the enthusiastic audience who witnessed the performance. The Prom was the one gala social function on the school calendar, when about two hundred couples danced in the rainbow decorated gymnasium to the rhythm of Milton Zeitlin's orchestra.

When the Senior year was reached Kenneth Malick was elected to the position of class president. Those chosen as his aides were: vice-president—Gene Melvin, secretary—Mike Martich, and treasurer Einajean Purinton. A dramatic success was recorded with the Senior Play, "The Whole Town's Talking". A more enjoyable play could not have been selected, and it was very well presented by an excellent cast headed by Mary Cengel and Russell Carnagey. The class had the largest number of students in the history of the school to receive their fourth scholarship W's.

Roy Green and Albert Ehlers brought honor to the school by their accomplishments in swimming, as did Paul Walsko in football. Bruce Avery, Eugene Gambril, and Mike Fowdy proved to be outstanding performers on the basketball floor. The class was also well represented in the field of girl's sports, those most active being: Lucille Boland, Harriet Doll, Hazel Helton, Elizabeth Jarosak, Gene Melvin, Edith Matis, Wilma Pemberton, and Ruth Zweig.

The class is proud of its achievements in all lines of endeavor—social, scholastic, and athletic.

Mat McAllister	Mathew Moser
Bill McAllister	Joseph Molson
Rollo Jenkins	Edward Greenwald
Mrs. Jennie Baldwin	Eleanor Vater

On April 28 an appreciative audience enjoyed one of the most entertaining three-act comedies ever presented at Whiting High School, when the Junior class produced "Applesauce" as its annual play. The cast reflected its splendid training when it excellently presented the play in the absence of its director, K. W. Turner, who spoke before the State Drama Conference at Bloomington, Indiana, on April 28.

Dorothy Freedman and Gilbert Galles as Ma and Pa Robinson kept the audience in a hilarious mood with their constant squabbling. Acting as peacemaker was Julia Mercer who realistically portrayed the sweet-tempered daughter. Rivals for the leading lady's hand in marriage were the light hearted Bill McAllister, played by Joe Molson the chief "applesaucer" and Rollo Jenkins, a successful business man interpreted by Edward Greenwald. Eleanor Vater's portrayal of the pessimistic Mrs. Baldwin will long to be remembered by all who saw the play, as one of the leading laugh-working characters.

The annual senior play, "The Whole Town is Talking," was presented, under the direction of Mr. Turner, to a capacity house on October 28, and has gone down in history of the class as a successful undertaking. This rollicking three act comedy is from the pens of John Emerson and Anita Loos, and is an adaption of the original acting version of Nathaniel Edward Reid. The scene of the play is in Sandusky, Ohio and the plot concerns the activities of the Simmons family.

The play has an unusually large speaking cast which consisted of fifteen competent members. The entire Senior Drama class took part in this production, as all members, in addition to the above cast, acted as friends of the Simmons family. This group was made up of the following people: Lucille Bailev, Paul Brindley, Neil Brinker, Roy Green, Rita Keim, William Lidgard, Robert Molson, Marion Pritchard, Ema-jean Purinton, Bernard Roberts, and Glen Springer.

The Masque Club rounds the third mile-stone in its career, a prominent organization, and one of the most active clubs in the school. The club already has to its credit a long list of successful enterprises. The social activities for the year were; an initiation party, a Christmas party, and an elaborate Spring Frolic. The organization did not give a major performance, but adopted the plan of doing a good deal of specialized work within the group. Instead of presenting many plays to the public, the members produced more before the club. A number of short plays and skits were presented at the regular meetings, providing valuable experience for both actors and audience. The club also lent its aid to all the endeavors of the Theatre Board group, in addition to sponsoring, with the board, the novel Costume Review.

Meetings are held twice monthly. All the students in the speech department are granted membership, providing they attend the first meeting of each semester. Other students desiring membership must make a ten minute appearance on a program, which is accepted by the club. The election of officers which was previously held only once during the year, is now a part of each semester's program in order to give those who entered the club in their last year an opportunity to hold office. Membership is constantly changing, and with new officers twice yearly, the best results are obtained, and the club remains an active one.

The Whiting Repertoire Players, a little theatre organization, was started in the spring of 1932, at which time Mr. Turner selected fourteen active members. This group functions throughout the year, in summer as well as winter.

Several members, who have been away to college, have helped build up the organization, while the active members have prepared a repertoire of several plays which have been presented before various civic groups of the city. Plays that have been presented during the past season are: "Mistletoe and Moonlight," "Cabbages," "A Table Set for Himself," "A Pair of Lunatics," "The Duchess Bounces In." One of the major endeavors for the year was the presentation of the elaborately staged "Green Dragon Emerald", at the Community Center Auditorium. This production showed the artistic calibre of the director and group, not only in acting but also in preparing beautiful stage settings, costumes, and furnishings.

The greatest honor given the Whiting Repertoire Players group was the invitation to appear at the Childrens' Theatre on the Enchanted Isle at the World's Fair, June 17. The selection of the Players for this performance was the "Knaves of Hearts." With this experience, the program for this organization next year will undoubtedly include several performances of major interest to children, in addition to adult drama.

The Board of Directors for the past year has included Mr. Turner as executive director, Henry Price, business manager, Wilbur Boland, production manager, Lucy Plumchuck, publicity manager, Hazel Slemien, costume mistress, Ruby Dellingier, make-up artist.

theatre board

The Whiting High School Theatre Board, in its second year of existence, has practically reached its aim of perfect cooperation between students and director in the drama department. The school has a right to be proud of the Board, as it is one of a very few successful organizations of its kind in the country.

Mr. Turner, Drama instructor, with a group of energetic students, introduced this efficient body into the high school curriculum last year, after making all the plans for it. He, together with the students under him, has seen the idea grow from a rather crude form, in the beginning, to a well working piece of machinery.

The Board is made up of a faculty director, a student director, and four large sections with these two at their head. Russell Carnagey acted in the capacity of student director for this year, and the sections and their chairmen are as follows: Production—Robert Molson and Mathew Moser; Direction—Russell Carnagey; Business—Elizabeth Manchak; and Secretarial—Rachael Baumwohl. Under these large divisions are other sub-departments which specialize in certain phases, and each having a chairman and assistant, besides a group of able committeemen. New committees were formed as the need arose for them. The Board has kept the membership under fifty since it was seen that more efficient work could be accomplished with smaller numbers of only the most vitally interested students.

The Theatre Board has staged every production that has been presented this year. Activities by the Board alone have included a Costume Review, "Nine Who Were Mother," which was presented for the Theatre Board by the Alumni Players, "Up-stage," and the Drama Festival play "The Rivals."

The Madrigal Club, under the direction of Mr. Calder, has become in its two years of existence, a well-known and outstanding music organization in this region.

From the eighteen members at the outset, the membership has expanded to twenty-four. Those students are chosen whose voices are most qualified in blending with others, as Madrigal music requires the ability of a voice to adapt itself to the intricacies of the composition. The Madrigal Club is the outgrowth of a successful quintet which won praise at the Lake County Music Festival two years ago.

By Madrigal singing is meant the performance of all secular choral music composed during the polyphonic period which is mainly the years between 1588 and 1638. The Madrigal in itself is a love song of the fourteenth, fifteenth, or sixteenth centuries. It is essentially polyphonic in form, with layers of melody, and requires patient and painstaking work in order to master it. Each of its parts is a melody, yet all blend in perfect harmony.

The first few months of rehearsals of the Madrigal Club were spent chiefly on one madrigal, "Come Away Death," in five parts by R. Vaughn-Williams. Since then the repertoire has expanded greatly and included in it are the following compositions:

"Summer Is A-Comin' In"—J. Fornsete; "Sweet Honeysucking Bess"—Wilbye; "All Creatures Now Are Merry-Minded"—Bennet; "Exultate Deo"—G. Palestrina; "Down the Hill Coring Trips"—Bateson; and "Sweet Phillida"—Pilkington. "All Creatures Now Are Merry-Minded" was the song they presented at the Lake County Music Festival this year.

The services of the Madrigal Club have been greatly in demand and they have appeared with highly gratifying performances before such civic and other organizations as the following; High School, Woman's Club, District Convention of Business and Professional Women, Whiting Parent-Teacher Association, and the Lion's Club. In addition to these appearances a splendid program was broadcast over radio station WGN.

Whiting High School is very fortunate in having, at the head of its instrumental music department, so capable a director as Mr. Lesinsky. Mr. Lesinsky received his Mus. Bac. and A. B. degrees at Valparaiso University and taught in the music department of that institution for five years. After serving as head of the band and orchestra department in Hammond for six years, Mr. Lesinsky came to Whiting. The Whiting High School Band was organized by Mr. J. W. McAllister in 1923. Under Mr. Lesinsky's direction the band developed rapidly, and won second place in the Indiana State contest during his first year in Whiting.

The first Whiting High School orchestra was organized in 1913 and consisted of twelve members. Under Mr. Adam P. Lesinsky's direction during the last two years it has grown to a membership of seventy-six pieces. In his first year at Whiting High School Mr. Lesinsky not only developed the orchestra in numbers but perfected its playing to such a degree that the orchestra won first place in Class B in the Indiana State contest at Evansville. Several members of the orchestra and band won state and national honors in the solo contests.

girls' glee club

One-hundred and one girls, many of whom have been associated with the group for four years, comprise the girls' glee club. As a result, this organization has achieved a perfection in singing seldom reached in high school work, for these people, who have had the benefit of these years of Mr. Calder's splendid training, form a sonorous background for the newer members.

At the beginning of the school year Mr. Calder introduced a series of vocal exercises and gymnastics which composed the major part of the curriculum for the first few weeks. These exercises served to improve the flexibility of the voice, enunciation, articulation and tone quality.

The Girls' Glee Club has established quite a reputation for fine singing at the Lake County Choral Festivals, and has received only the highest praise from the adjudicators. They sing mostly three part music and only the best in choral literature is presented. Such numbers as "The Cloud," by Fletcher, "Nigh In the Desert," Jenkins, "On the Steppe," Gretcheninoff and "Ossians Fingal," Brahms, etc., have been studied the past year with minute precision. The beautiful tonal qualities and delicate blendings and nuances shown in the interpretive work of this organization are a delight not only to their audiences but to themselves and Mr. Calder.

boys' glee club

The Boys' Glee Club is composed of fifty-five boys and is divided into two groups, the first and third period classes, which meet twice each week. Much time is devoted to tone production, ear training and sight reading, and it is these fundamentals that are responsible for the fine quality of singing found in Whitings' choral groups. The Boys' Glee Club sings mostly four part songs and its repertoire includes such selections as "John Peel," "Home On the Range," "Passing By," etc. Great enthusiasm seems to be shown by these young men in choir singing activities, as is evidenced by the competition for places in more specialized groups such as the Madrigal Club and the special double choir.

The Boys' Glee Club as one of its most important activities, forms a substantial and inspiring background for the mixed chorus which is a combination of the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs. The Mixed Chorus meets once a week and the same quality of work is done here as in the glee clubs.

Forty-four boys and girls from the mixed chorus were chosen to participate in the "In-And-About-Chicago Chorus," an organization of 475 high school students which presented a program of choral music at Orchestra Hall on March 24. After this meritable performance they were invited to sing on an N. B. C. program April 2, and at the Worlds Fair June 10. This group of which the Madrigal Club was the nucleus made up the Mixed Chorus that presented at the Lake County Choral Festival the Bach Motet "The Spirit Also Helpeth Us".

The year's first issue of the Tattler, the six-page school publication, came out on November 17, through the cooperative efforts of Miss Falk, journalism instructor, and Mr. Vesely, printing instructor. At the beginning of the school year, the majority of the students in the journalism and printing departments were extremely inexperienced in the publishing of a school paper. Improvements in the subsequent issues of The Tattler testified to the real development of both writers and printers. Approximately a hundred students of Whiting High School have a definite responsibility in the completion of each issue of the paper. So fine is the cooperation between these two departments that it is possible to find, at almost any time, members of the journalism class in the printshop and vice versa, diligently putting forth effort to produce a perfect issue of the paper.

The Tattler is made up of editorial and feature articles, accounts of the school's athletic events, social affairs and departmental activities. An added feature is the junior high school page which is made up of work done by junior high students and edited by Margaret Ference.

The staff, appointed by Miss Falk, remained unchanged throughout the year. There was no business staff selected since the paper was distributed, bi-monthly without cost, to all students in both senior and junior schools.

In spite of the depression, the class of 1933 was determined that its name should not go down in the history of the school as the class which did not publish a Reflector. Although faced by financial barriers greater than those confronted in any previous attempts in the publishing of an annual in Whiting High School, the staff, with splendid cooperation on the part of the faculty and members of the senior class, obtained sufficient funds to undertake this project. Realizing that economic conditions necessitated a curtailment of expenditures, the staff determined to make up in quality what the book lacked in quantity.

The editorial and business staffs were both under the supervision of Miss Falk, who, with the aid of other faculty members, chose the staff for the yearbook in the latter part of October.

Much credit is due Mr. Vesely, printing instructor, who kindly aided the yearbook project by contributing woodcuts, as well as directing the actual publishing of the book, and Miss Stewart, art supervisor, who directed the art work which plays such an important part in the make-up of the book. William Vasilko greatly helped the enterprise undertaken by the senior class by making many woodcuts, and Barbara Horvat and Gay Rhoda Aronberg are to be accredited with having done the majority of the tedious typing of the various articles for the publication.

quill and scroll

Quill and Scroll, the international honorary society for high school journalists, was organized in our high school in 1929, for the purpose of encouraging a higher standard of journalistic work and rewarding individual achievement in the field of journalism. Since our school was granted a charter by the organization once each year new students have been chosen to membership. This year fifteen students were admitted, who, with the three juniors chosen last year, make up the largest membership during any one year in the history of our chapter. There are over twelve thousand young journalists from all over the world, who wear the pin of the society.

According to the constitution, candidates for membership in Quill and Scroll must meet the following requirements at the time of the selection: They must be of at least junior standing, they must be in the upper third of their class scholastically, they must have done superior work in some phase of journalistic work, in order to determine the types of publication best suited to high schools and to standardize instruction in this field.

national honor society

President	Harriet Doll
Vice-President	Martha Broderson
Secretary	Kenneth Malick
Treasurer	Bruce Avery

Probably one of the foremost ambitions of every graduating Senior is the distinctive honor of being chosen as a member to the National Honor Society, which is a national scholastic organization under the control of a national council.

Members are chosen on the basis of scholarship, service, leadership and character; they must be in the upper quarter of their class in scholastic rank. Not more than fifteen per cent of any graduating class is chosen. Preliminary selections are made by a committee of five teachers and the principal and are then submitted to the entire faculty who vote for those students who best meet the qualifications.

Twenty three of this year's graduating class have been chosen as deserving of the honor of belonging to this society, symbolic of commendable character, leadership and service. The parent organization of the national honorary society, after whom its ideals are patterned is the Phi Beta Kappa, found in colleges and universities.

MONITORS

"Ssssh! Not so much noise. People are trying to study and there are classes in session. Please keep quiet."

This is the usual speech that greets the students coming from the other buildings to report to their next class. If that speech doesn't bring the results desired, more strenuous methods are used to get the students quiet.

The Monitor system was introduced to the high school late in the spring of 1931. Since then it has been steadily improved upon. The members of this organization are honor roll students who have the ability to succeed in keeping perfect order in the halls.

To become a monitor, an application must be submitted either to the office or to Mr. Applegarth. These applications are carefully considered and only the most reliable students are chosen to fill these posts. In this way, it is made sure that the student will carry out his duties to the fullest extent.

There are three regular monitors for each period during the day, and there is a substitute for each one of these. When the regular monitor is absent from his post, which is at one of three entrances of the building, the substitute takes his place. The monitor at the middle entrance is the captain, and he checks on the attendance of each of the others.

The duties of the monitor are to keep classes out of the building until the bell rings, to check up on the passes in and out of the building, to direct strangers about the school, and to keep order and quiet in the halls.

patrol club

If you hear the call "Come down here to cross. That isn't the right place. Don't you know the new grass when you see it?", you know that the Patrol Boy is on duty, and that it is best to do as he tells you.

The Patrol Club is an honorary one, composed of nineteen boys out of Junior and Senior classes, who are dependable, loyal, and ever ready for work. The officers for the first semester were Lawrence Hansen, captain, and Gilbert Galles and Morris Johnson, lieutenants. The officers for the second semester were Andrew Miterko, captain, James Brahos and John Matis, lieutenants.

Out of the nineteen members in this club, fifteen are Seniors. They are as follows: Lawrence Hansen, Morris Johnson, Andrew Miterko, James Brahos, John Matis, James Judson, Lyle Schwartzentruber, Nathan Kaplan, Neil Brinker, Bernard Roberts, Russell Carnagey, George Choltye, Henry Kiekenapp, Robert Mo'son, and Patrick Krull.

Letters are awarded to those members who have been in the club for one year, and who are active members. To obtain money to purchase these letters, two dances were sponsored, and the receipts were used.

Mr. Applegarth, the sponsor, organized the club in the school year, 1929-30, after a start in 1928-29. Since then the boys have been perfecting their codes, and set a splendid example to the rest of the school.

The Patrol Boy's duties and responsibilities are very specific. They are the protection of his own life while on duty, the protection of the lives of his fellow students, and the proper development of his own personal habits so that he may set an example for all others in the school.

The Latin Club, sponsored by Miss Wilhelm, instructor of Latin, is one of the oldest organizations of the High School. All second and third year Latin students are members of this club.

Each class has an individual club of its own and elects two consuls who alternate at presiding, as well as a questor, in whose charge are the minutes of the meetings and other secretarial duties. A meeting is held every three weeks during the regular class period. A different committee, appointed each time by the presiding consul, selects the program and those who are to appear on it.

The roll call is made an unusual one by being answered, not with the usual "here", but in some manner pertaining to the theme of the meeting. "America," translated into its Latin form is sung at the beginning of each meeting.

One assembly period each year is taken over by the Latin Club.

The consuls and questors of the different classes are as follows.

Latin II—Period 3—Consuls; Marcella Dolak, Joseph Zata; Questor, Marvin Gambril. Period 4—Consuls; Olga Kaminsky, William O'Neil; Questor, David Saunders. Latin III—Period 2—Consuls; Caroline Zimmerly, Mike Martich; Questor, Bob Adley.

french club

President	Gene Melvin
Vice-President	Eleanor DuFon
Secretary	Margaret Ference
Treasurer	Paul Bradford

Le Cercle Francais was organized four years ago with the purpose of cultivating a better knowledge of and the ability to speak the French language.

To gain membership into the club, one must be enrolled in a French class and have a keen interest in the language and the business affairs of the club.

Many social enterprises have been undertaken by the organization, one of the most successful of which was the initiation party held March 16, in the Social Room.

The social meetings are held the first Thursday of the month with special business meetings called whenever the officers deem it advisable. The social meetings are always well attended and are looked forward to because of the unusual and interesting programs offered by the program chairman, Martha Broderson. At the meetings, French is spoken exclusively, with the members imitating the Parisians as much as possible.

The French Club pins, of which the members are quite proud, are particularly attractive. The insignia is the Eiffel Tower between two Latin symbols, the fasces. On it is inscribed "Le Cercle Francais," and "W. H. S."

science club

The members for this organization are chosen on the basis of high scholastic standing in chemistry and physics. The group, under the sponsorship of Mr. Applegarth, meets on alternate Thursdays at which time interesting programs in this field are presented. The purpose of the club is to help satisfy the interests of pupils in some phase of science such as advanced chemistry, radio, or photography, none of which are taken up in class. Detailed study in such subjects does not exist in the classroom as a rule.

In a club of this kind is found a group of students primarily interested in scientific research. There is no limit to the stimulation which may be gained by those who are willing to and capable of going ahead with further study on their own initiative.

Among the activities of the Science club this year was a play, "The Alchemist", which was presented in the assembly for the entire school. Another splendid program, given by this club, was one in memory of the birth of Thomas A. Edison, who has contributed so much to Science.

biology club

The primary purpose of the Biology Club is to encourage its members to investigate projects in biology that are more complex and detailed than those done in class.

The students principally work out of doors and take trips, accompanied by Miss Whitton, the advisor, for the purpose of gathering information about new and unusual forms of life not found in the immediate surroundings. An excellent lecture was attended at the Field Museum at which time the club members learned of "Plants In Growth and Animals in Development."

In order to qualify for membership to the Biology Club, students of the Biology classes must have a grade of C or above, be approved by the sponsor and elected members. The candidates must also show an interest in the club's activities and prove by working out some special project that they will show special qualification for giving the club the benefit of their membership. They are formally initiated and take the oath of membership.

Meetings are held on alternative Thursdays at which time interesting talks on subjects pertaining to biology are presented by the students.

scholarship "w" club

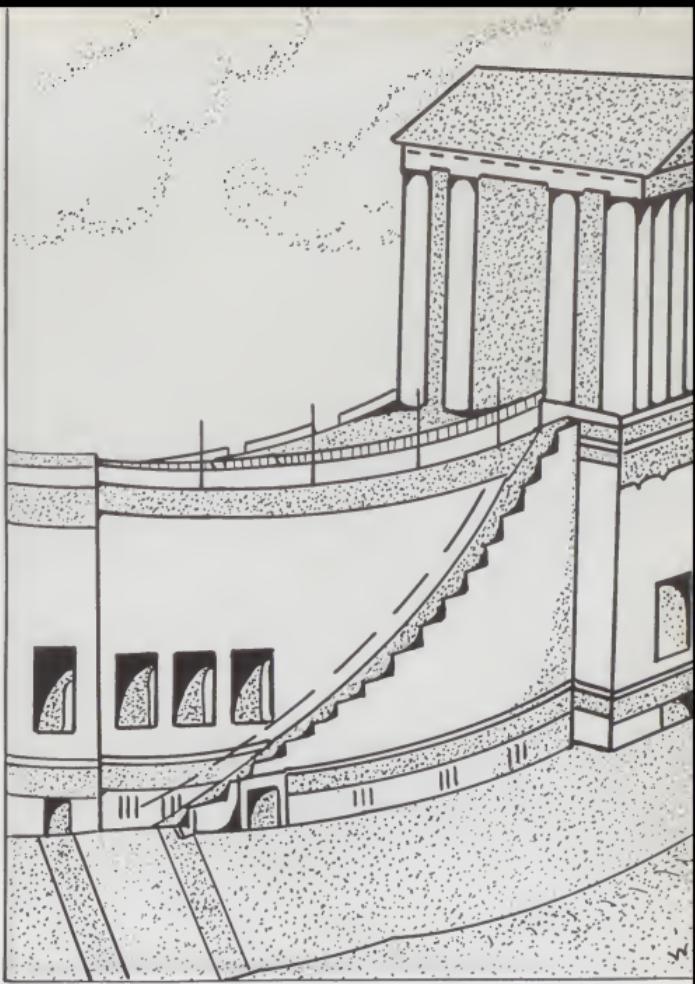

The Scholarship W Club, although an inactive one, is the oldest and best known organization of Whiting High School. Begun in 1912, it has steadily increased in membership and prominence with the increased enrollment of the school.

The club is composed of all honor roll students who automatically become eligible upon receiving grades averaging B (90) with no grade below a C (85) for one year. A spirit of interest and competition is established among the students for higher scholastic standing. Membership is not renewed if the student does not meet the requirements the following year.

Emblems in recognition of individual effort are awarded to the club members. A small W, which is green felt with a white background is awarded the first year; the second year W is white felt with a green background; the third year W is green on a white background with green binding; and the fourth year W is white with a green background and white binding.

The following Seniors have received three scholarship W's and will probably receive their fourth ones this year: Ruth Bransky, Virginia Gilberg, Helen May Huggins, Mike Martich, Margaret Price, Hazel Zimmerman, Carolyn Zimmerly, and Ruth Zweig.

Whiting high's 1932 football team will be remembered as the greatest aggregation ever to wear the colors of Green and White. Although not winners of the conference championship, the Oilers were in the fight for the title throughout the season, and were feared by many a mighty foe in the Calumet Region.

Under the tutelage of Coach Gallivan, the team defeated Emerson and Froebel for the first time in history as well as triumphing over Pullman Tech and Catholic Central in non-conference tilts. After dropping conference games to Hammond and Washington early in the season, the Oilers hit their winning stride and were hard to stop.

Captain Paul Walsko had the honor of being the only member of the team to receive a fourth football letter. On the all-conference team Walsko was selected as a guard and he received honorable mention in the all-state selections. Bruce Avery was given honorable mention on the all-conference team as an end.

Those who received football letters were: Avery, Bundra, Evanich, Emkin, M. Fowdy, S. Fowdy, Hicko, Greenwald, Kovachic, Martich, Miklusak, Mullaney, Oliver, Slacanin, Al Wajvoda, Andrew Wajvoda, and Captain Walsko. Mike Evanich was elected to lead the next team.

basketball

What a basketball season! Can any student in school during his time ever forget it? The remarkable record made by the team during the 1932-1933 season and the courageous fight they put up in the Sectional Tournament will never be forgotten.

Coach Orsborn's protégés opened the season by capturing four of their first six encounters. After these games they suffered a slump, falling to seventh place in the conference. They regained their former stride, however, and finished in third place.

The Oilers entered the Sectional Tournament at Gary as one of the favorites, a fact which was brought about at least partially, by their four consecutive victories over the four Gary Schools. They swept through their first three tourney games to reach the finals for the first time in seven years. In the championship battle the valiant Whiting team dropped a one point thriller in the last few seconds to Hammond. Crown Point, Lew Wallace, and Froebel all fell before the strong Green and White lads in the tournament.

The entire student body is proud of the 1932-1933 team and was highly elated over its splendid success throughout the season. The following boys were awarded letters: Captain Avery, Oliver, Benko, Kanocz, Gambril, Wajvoda, Fowdy, Green, Farbak, Greenwald, Hanchar, and Manager Johnson.

Tennis

Tennis was introduced in Whiting High School by Coach Orsborn. From the prospect at the opening of season, the school may expect as fine an outcome in this branch of athletics as was existant last year.

Last year the Whiting tennis team tied Emerson for first place in the conference, but lost the title in the playoff. Francis Fudenski, William Feeney, Leon Gardner, Gilbert Behrens, and Oscar Gardner made up the net team last year, which was one of the best teams in the region. All five of these boys were lost to this year's team through graduation.

Tennis, this season, will not be represented in the conference, but this will not prevent the schools from playing numerous matches among themselves. Whiting will schedule matches with the seven conference schools as well as Blue Island and a number of the other nearby schools.

Seventeen seniors as well as a large group of juniors were out for this activity this year, and Mr. Orsborn has a great deal of material from which he can pick the team. The boys who participated in tennis last year and who are hoping to make this year's team are Nathan Kaplan, James Judson, Bruce Avery, Edward Greenwald, and Ralston Welsby.

Coach Orsborn has scheduled a number of tournaments to be played by the members of the senior and junior classes this season, and this will be one way in which he ill be able to make his decisions in the selection of the team.

Our hats are off to Whiting High's 1933 swimming team, the most successful tank team in history! Always a leader in the water sport, the Oilers this season won the topmost honor of the state—the Indiana State Swimming Championship.

Four new I. H. S. A. records were established in the state meet by the new champions. Whiting now has all seven state records, Joe Brock having set three marks in 1929. The state records now stand as follows:

1933 Meet—160 yard Relay—Oliver, Schwartzentruber, Nagy and Love. Time: 1:22.7.

120 yard Medley Relay—Ehlers, Green and Oliver. Time 1:12.4.

100 yard Backstroke—Ehlers. Time 1:08.9.

100 yard Breaststroke—Green. Time 1:14.8.

1929 Meet—40 yard free style—Brock. Time: 19.3.

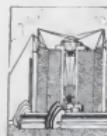

100 yard free style—Brock. Time 56.2.

220 yard free style—Brock. Time: 2:21.8.

Other places won by Whiting in the state meet: 40 yard—Goerg, first, Love, second; 100 yard free style—Goerg, first, Horvat, third; and Diving—Wilson, second.

Coached by Mr. Parmenter, the Oiler tankmen were defeated but once in a pre-season meet this year; they won the Thornton Fractional Invitational Meet with 37 points, placed second in the conference meet with 35 points, and captured the state swimming title by scoring 44 points.

athletic board

President	Mike Fowdy
Vice-President	Harriet Doll
Secretary	Virginia Gilberg
Treasurer	Joe Miklusak
Executive	Gene Melvin
Executive	Fred Emkin

Each year, early in the first semester, the election of the Athletic Board, one of the most important organizations of Whiting High School, takes place. A list of names is presented to the students, and they cast their votes, keeping in mind the fact that a member of his board must be conscientious and willing to work hard. In addition to the officers, the students elect two executives to this board. It is the only organization of which the members are voted upon by the entire student body, and one of the groups that is representative of the entire school.

In addition to the student members, the board consists of Mr. Grubb, and one faculty member appointed by him, and the physical directors. The board recommends the athletic program, promotes the sale of tickets, provides accommodations for spectators at games, assists in keeping school spirit and enthusiasm behind the various teams, and handles all matters pertaining to school athletics. Student members are given the authority to offer suggestions and opinions on the various questions that may arise. Meetings are held only when the occasion is necessary.

It is through the efforts of this organization that the sports in the high school have been made possible. Through action of the athletic board, "W's" have been awarded to deserving members of the various boys' athletic teams, and, although a small item of its many duties, the board has also undertaken the appointment of the school yell leader for the year.

girls' athletic club

President	Eleanor Vater
Vice-President	Catherine Feeney
Secretary	Ann Anthony
Treasurer	Elizabeth Jaroscak

The Girls' Athletic Club, sponsored by Miss Imbs, physical education instructor, and organized primarily to encourage sports in high school, is rapidly increasing in membership each year. Through this club the girls have a chance to participate in all the major sports of the school year.

For each sport there is held a tournament to decide the championship team. After a hard struggle, both the Juniors and Seniors deserve the title 'Champ' in hockey. The finals in the Basketball tournament between the Juniors and Sophomores ended with the Juniors as the winning class.

For the past several years the Girls' Varsity Swimming Team has been an outstanding feature in girls' sports. Having won two state meets and broken several state records, the present team has a good chance to defeat every team on the schedule.

the march of time

SEPTEMBER — 1833 to 1843
First steam fire-engine built.

6. 550 disciples of the fine art of erudition enter, upon this memorial date, the Whiting portals of learning. They arrive to gaze upon the High School edifice embellished with recent paint.

12. Ye Olde Masque Clubbe is primordial with its first meeting. Ruth Zweig is their choice as eminent executive for the semester now on hand. We extend our sincerest congratulations.

15. Lawrence Hansen heads our gallant guardians of the school highways for the coming semester. We extend our sincerest congratulations.

16. The football season makes its bow with Thorton Fractional upon the Standard Athletic pasture held dear by small boys from the eighth to twelfth year, because of remarkable peep hole opportunities.

19. The senile personages assembled and then disbanded some while later with Kenneth Malick as officiating pilot for the year. We extend our sincerest congratulations.

20. The Madrigal songsters amalgamate for this year.

24. The football team travels to Hammond territory—the theme song is that, which is usually enoted from an organ and attired in black.

28. Theatre Board aspirants realize their aspirations. Russell Carnegie trips into the boots of student director. We extend our sincerest congratulations.

30. Catherine Feeney now bears the Junior torch of guidance. We extend our sincerest congratulations.

OCTOBER — 1843 to 1853
Chicago reached by railroad

1. The football team travelled to Purdue to assume spectatorship of the Purdue-Kansas duel.

2. After tryouts and tryouts and tryouts and then some more tryouts, (everyone in the Senior drama class, was so exceptionally fine, you see) the announcement of the Senior play cast was allowed to make its initial appearance.

5. The second yearlings elect as their high-chair warmer, Marvin Gambril. We extend our sincerest congratulations to the new president.

6. An 0-0 knot is the sad result of the Horace Mann-Whiting encounter.

10. Gene Melvin is now president of the Parly-voo Francais. We extend our sincerest congratulations.

14. Mike Fowdy, on this day, receives the presidency of the Athletic Board. We extend our sincerest congratulations.

15. The Biology Club was shipped to the Fields' Museum as a portion of the audience of a lecture.

17. Jack Kidney is now the laborious task-master of the Reflector Staff. We extend our sincerest congratulations.

22. Whiting carries home a victory received from Pullman Tech of Chicago. (It wasn't a conference game, of course).

23. The dire sufferings of the unfortunate Masque Clubbers of the future were immensely enjoyed by the inhumane regular members, this evening.

25. The pedagogues entertained their most highly respected selves at a party, with due regard to ghostly apparitions.

28. The Eminent Event of the Senior year makes its advent—"The Whole Town's Talking."

NOVEMBER — 1853 to 1863
First bridge across the Mississippi

1. The young ladies of Whiting indulge in a hockey tournament with the Juniors topmost.

3. The choral organizations entertained most delightfully at the weekly assembly.

9. The "hook-worms" and "digs" at last had their day. Scholastic 'W's were awarded to the deserving ones.

10. The second yearlings congregate for the especial purpose of discussing plans for their party.

11. The Madrigal songsters leave off singing for the time being and put their efforts into effect with a stag dance.

14. The dead language arouses for the year with the Latin Club organization.

18. Another success goes down into the annals of Whiting's many other successes—The Minstrel Show.

19. The "deer teachers" meet once again to make more decisions as to our fate.

23. Many alumni in view at the Thanksgiving dance given by the G. A. C.

24. Thanksgiving arrives.
27. Thanksgiving leaves?

28. The Science Club reorganizes itself and begins the school year with Mike Martich as chief scientist. We extend our sincerest congratulations.

calendar

DECEMBER — 1873 to 1873
First sleeping car built

3. The drive for old clothes, old chairs, old tables, old shoes, old lamps, and old curtains, anything aged, or not in active use begins. Last year's Theatre Board's Props and Clothes campaign was a thriving success. This one is showing signs of being as such.

7. The musically inclined exert their talents at the Band Concert.

8. "Seniors Whollop Juniors at Baseball". Miss Hurst's swinging Seniors victorious over Miss Simon's jumping Juniors at a verb slinging, noun tossing, phrase throwing baseball game.

10. Whiting meets Washington as first conference game of the basketball season. Refer to September 24.

15. Nine were mama at the matinee today. Gilbert Galles' "NO" was a refusal that was a glorious rejection.

20. The senior kiddies haul out their 'ittle hittie thocks—you know Thanth Clauth ith coming.

23. The girls' gym was occupied on this eventful evening by the Masque Clubbers for their Christmas Party. Thanth Clauth was even there (he wath rather skinny). Judging from the number of gift boxes of soap received by the guests—one might come to the conclusion that — —

25. Fully five seniors made the astounding and tearful discovery that there wasn't any Santa Claus. We live to learn.

JANUARY — 1873 to 1883
First bicycle built

1. Ah—with the breaking of the dawn of a New Year, life's little tragedies begin anew.

4. To begin the New Year correctly we simply must have a teachers' meeting—we did.

6. A feeling of exaltation, of elation, of ecstasy overwhelms, overcomes, and overpowers us. Hammond is vanquished.

7. The sophomores finally have that party which was going to be since last December or so.

12. That Subscription Drive is On! "Oh yes, I'm so sorry, I'll bring my quarter tomorrow—on my word of honor, I will." "But I just simply had to get that hair-cut, Harriet."

13. Will someone please find a corner, a soft one? We wish to curl up and expire—Emerson-loss; Froehel-loss.

16. Such a grand conglomeration of gowns, costumes, cloaks, and waistcoats. The Costume Review was something different.

18. Again the junior girls excel the seniors and sophomores—this time it's basketball.

20. Has anyone disclosed that corner yet? Whiting again occupies the tail end this week-end, both to Washington and Valpo.

23. Our executives, the student council, hold an administrative meeting.

27. We can fold up that corner and tuck it away in mothballs. Roosevelt and Horace Mann fall before our vicious onslaught. (Both conference games.)

FEBRUARY — 1883 to 1893
First electric trolley

3. Upon this memorial date, happened a memorial event, which was a memorial game and will certainly be remembered (at least until the finger-nails grow out again). 3 overtimes, but Hammond got it.

4. Our spirits and feelings view a new awakening. Lew Wallace courtesies to Whiting.

8. The gallant guardians of our school highways elect a new chief guardian, Andy Mitterko. We extend our sincerest congratulations.

10. We won! (No time for voluminous words)—and it was Froehel.

14. Will you bid be the honor of consenting to become my Valentine?

16. Cravats adorn the necks of the boys (for once). Reflector pictures were taken today.

17. Wilbur Boland replaces Mike Martich as president of the Science Club. We extend our sincerest congratulations.

18. Festivities in the gym mark the Juniors' long awaited party.

24. The Seniors follow suit.

27. It snowed and snowed and snowed and — and then after it got all through snowing, it snowed some more.

MARCH — 1893 to 1903
First Horseless Car

2. Anxiety is established as the mental state of all, but it is needless: Crown Point is overcome.

3. Grave concern towers o'er all, but it is needless: Lew Wallace is overcome.

4. Anxiety, mental uneasiness, dread, and even fear trail all: Froebel is passed with safety. Hammond is not—and by one, one insignificant point.

5. The foremost distinction in dramatic tendencies has been reached by some Seniors in the form of the Alumni Players.

10. Again our aquatic performers outswim Thornton Fractional.

13. Over the school, over the city a screen of darkness so suddenly, so quickly, that it overcame everyone. It was one of the worst fogs we have seen for some while.

21. The annual Penny Supper is now on hand. Such excellent time could be had for but a beggarly few coppers.

23. Some twenty-three seniors have reached one of the highest points of esteem with the selection of the National Honor Society.

A number of Journalistic enthusiasts were given the Quill and Scroll Honor.

28. Again our swimmers forge to the front with the boys defeating Loyola of Chicago, and the girls, Washington.

31. Our gallant guardians of the school highways will at last receive their long awaited "W's" with the proceeds gathered from their "Bums Dance."

JUNE — 1923 to 1933
First Austin Built

2. We dislike to give the wrong impression of our opinion of ourselves and our school, but again it is unavoidable. Who can we help it when we know perfectly well that we're mighty good? By the way, you know, of course, ho the orchestra came out in the National Orchestra Contest? 8—9—10. This time it's the Band,

12. The first of our last farewell appearances is here, Class Day. We try to be happy, to be gay, but how can we be that way when we know that dear old Whiting High will see her last of us, so soon. Tears come to our eyes when we think of it. A lump appears in many throats. Whiting, dear old Whiting, how will you bear it, how will you stand it, how will you endure it?—without us, the class of 1933.

16. It's here. Commencement, to which we looked forward for four long, long years. Yet in retrospect those years seem all too short; they have passed more quickly than we believed they could. Some how, though, we don't seem to be so enthusiastic about the shortness of those years—maybe if they could have been just a tiny bit longer, anyways here it is. We're off.

APRIL — 1893 to 1903
First lighter than air-craft

1. The first Drama Festival of Lake County takes place and it will not be the last. Whiting viewed its own "Rivals" with extreme pride.

2. We are very proud of our representatives in the In and About Chicago chorus who helped with the exceptional program broadcasted this afternoon over the N.B.C. network.

4. Dr. Barnard's talk this morning gave new hope to prospective (but also fearful) aviators. In the years to come, Whiting will be gazed upon with awe and reverence, as the Alma Mater of Edson Rhea, who flew to the moon. (with Caroline, of course.)

8. The word "pride" dislikes very much to be used again, but no other noun would be suitable. (It is feared that the impression that Whiting is vain may be gotten). This time it is in regard to that swimming team of ours. The state championship not only hung its bathing suit in Whiting's locker, but so did four brand new records which makes this school the possessor of every Indiana state swimming record.

11. Grades out—need more be said?

15. Again that particular word reoccurs; methinks Whiting does have vanity, but now, really, why on earth shouldn't we have? The instrumental soloists come in for applause on this occasion.

21. Just repeat what you see above and cross out "thinks" and replace it with "knows", and "instrumental soloists" and replace that with "vocalists".

calendar

23. Self-glorification must go on, but what else can be done when the Madrigal Club sings over W.M.A.Q.

26. Those industrious folks, the Band Mothers, staged another successful affair, the Card Party.

28. Upon my word, ladies weren't you misably amazed at Joe Molson's very excellent imitation of a leading man? The Junior Play, of course—"Applesause".

29. A charming, delightful, and refreshing little party was given by those captivating members of the French Club.

MAY — 1913 to 1923
First armoured war-tanks

To whom it may concern:

As the natural course of life goes on, when life's little tragedies reoccur, and when one's joys and sorrows make their reappearance, it is somewhat to be expected that the urgent desire to toil, in some mysterious fashion, at this crucial time of the year bids us goodbye. It is now that one little, wee voice, inside of you says to work because grades are not far away, and then another wee little voice inside mentions the fact that this is spring, when the April showers have accomplished their duty and brought May Flowers henceforth, when tennis rackets and golf clubs blossom out, when our Editor-in-chief discards his garters, and when the little birdies go "cheep, cheep" and when the "keep off the grass" signs come into view. Ah, my dear, it's Spring once more. Beautiful, Glorious, Grand Spring. But in spite of all of this poesy why on earth there aren't a little more activities of some kind or other in this romantic month is beyond this calendar. The Prom alone saves the day. Mere words cannot express, cannot describe, cannot relate what should be justly expressed, described, and related about this Prom.
